Whistleblowing

What is Whistleblowing?

Whistleblowing means that you report any signs of misconduct, legal violations, or other irregularities in your workplace – even if you don't want to discuss them directly with your manager or the FWG HR team.

Examples of such issues include:

- Violations of labor or safety regulations
- Discrimination, harassment, or bullying
- Theft and fraud
- Violations of hygiene or food safety standards
- Data protection breaches or other unethical behaviour

By speaking up, you help protect guests, employees, and the business.

If you do not wish to discuss such a matter with HR or your supervisor, you can contact Michael Schibli.
Michael is an independent advisor and will handle your concern discreetly. Together with you and the Familie Wiesner Gastronomie, he will work to find a suitable solution.
